What can you do for your child’s cold?
Children needed for research study on cough and cold remedies

Researchers at Penn State Hershey Children’s Hospital are studying different treatments for nighttime cough and cold symptoms for children. Parents will be asked about their child’s symptoms on two days.

Your child may be eligible if he or she:

• Is between two and 11 years old, and
• Has had a cold for seven days or less.

Compensation is provided for participation.

Study director
Ian Paul, M.D., Pediatrics

For information:
Pediatric Clinical Research Office, 717-531-5656